Words talk
Words listen
Words feel
Words love
Be careful,
Words also hurt.

When minds
can't talk,
make sure
they're written.

Time

I was born not knowing I was timed

I grew up not knowing I was timed

I slept not knowing I was timed

I did things not knowing I was timed

But,

I loved you knowing I was timed.

Now

Now, it's so normal to see people showing that they're happier than others or they're hoping so.

Now people need screens more than other necessity to be able to tell what they are up to.

Now people become stranger because they want more friends or followers from something that isn't real.

Now people prefer to show off what they have and others don't.

Now people trust their screens to help them
run from the reality.

The Fault

It is not your fault
if you've met someone who can make you fly
but not to fly with him, sometimes this person comes to let you know how it feels to fly and what will happen if you fall, you should thank him
for teaching you a life lesson that isn't taught at schools but is needed in real life.

It is not your fault
if you've met someone that can make you smile but not to smile with him because he wants to let you know how it feels to cry
then you can let go what's not belong to you.
